Political Pot Starts to Boil In County

THE ALAMEDA county political pot has started to boil.

Charles W. Culver, former fire chief of Emeryville and a candidate for sheriff in 1926, has tossed his hat in the ring. Culver will again seek election to the sheriff's job. He states he will be an independent candidate, "entirely free from all political bosses."

Reason for Culver's early announcement as to his intention to run for sheriff is said to be because of Sheriff Burton F. Becker's series of addresses before chambers of commerce, luncheon clubs and other organizations.

It is reported that Mayor M. B. Driver, of Berkeley, also is being urged by friends to become a candidate for the office.

ACREAGE DEVOTED TO ROSES IS TO BE DOUBLED HERE

More Than Four Carloads
Sent East in Last Three Months

If song writers who favor the rose as a theme for their lyrics would come to Washington township, Alameda county, they would be inspired beyond their fondest expectations.

The rose blooms in all its glory in this section of the state and is the queen of a wide variety of beautiful flowers.

Rose bushes grown in and around Niles and Decoto are finding a ready market in the east where the hard qualities of the California stock is appreciated.

According to records just completed, shipment from this section of the county during the last three months have amounted to more than four carloads and plans are under way to practically double the acreage devoted to rose culture next year.

The California Nursery company of Niles, one of the largest growers in the state, has made several large shipments to Mexico during the last few weeks. Practically all of the rose bushes are sold to eastern nurseries, company officials state.

MERCHANTS URGED TO CLOSE UP SHOPS NEXT MONDAY, ARMISTICE DAY

Chamber of Commerce and American Legion are Behind Plan

WITH Washington Township post, American Legion, anxious to see Armistice Day properly observed by all good Americans next Monday, the Niles chamber of commerce this week discussed the plan of asking all merchants to suspend business for the day.

While the chamber of commerce is not a merchants' association and has no jurisdiction over the conduct of the local business men, it was suggested that a "patriotic" hint be dropped gently into each merchant's ear regarding the closing of his shop on the great holiday.

Programs of a fitting nature will be presented in Oakland and other bay cities on Monday and all the leading business houses will be closed.

Washington Township post, American Legion, will stage a big ball in the evening at the Garden of Allah. There will be a touch of militarism to the affair and special stunts will help carry out the spirit of the day. The best of dance music will be on hand to inspire the dancers and every other feature of the big ball will be equally as attractive.

The nearest Armistice Day celebration to Niles will be at Hayward. That city has prepared a big program which will be featured by a parade in the morning and the football game between Washington Union high school and Hayward gridders in the afternoon.

State Agriculturist Explains Tomato Pest to C. of C. Group

C. E. Scott of the state agricultural department and who is now in Washington township investigating a rare type of tomato pest, delivered an interesting talk on his work here before the Niles chamber of commerce on Tuesday.

Scott showed one of the pest plants to the local group and explained in an interesting manner just how the plant attacks the tomato, how it survives without apparent nourishment and many more of its peculiarities.

Tuesday's session of the Niles commerce chamber was presided over by F. V. Jones in the absence of Harvey Braun, president. Jones made an excellent chairman, displaying plenty of pep and enthusiasm, and he tried desperately to get the body to act immediately on a number of questions.

Mrs. P. A. Ellis is planning to give a tea tomorrow afternoon at her home for several friends from Alameda.

In spite of Jones' efforts, the booster group failed to rally to any marked degree, a free-for-all discussion of the Stanford-California football game taking first place in the meeting's minutes.

The matter of securing a special Christmas film called "Why You Should Trade at Home" for projection on the Niles Theater screen was laid over until next week.

Whether or not the commerce chamber should take the lead in asking local merchants to close their stores on Armistice Day never reached an answer, although it seemed to be the opinion of several members that the request to close should be passed up and down Main street.

Gordon Nelson, of San Francisco, was an honored guest.

AND THE BAND STAND STILL LOOKS AWFUL

ONE OF THE numerous improvements to Main street, Niles, during the last few days is the removal of an old fruit and vegetable stand from the yard of Marino Iacopi. The stand had not been used for many months and served only as a collector of old papers and other refuse.

Removal of that unsightly contraption should be an incentive for the removal or painting of the old band stand almost opposite. The Register repeats it has $5 ready at all times toward a fund to either remove or improve the old stand.

NEWARK PREDICTED TO BE METROPOLIS OF THIS TOWNSHIP

Woman Real Estate Agent
Sees Bright Future
For Bay City

Demonstrating her faith in the future of Newark, the industrial city of Washington township, Mrs. Amy Hudson, a former resident of Niles, has established herself in the "salt" city as a bonafide, licensed realtor.

Affiliated with the Great Western Realty corporation, Mrs. Hudson will handle all of that company's properties in the Newark district, and at present is engaged in saleswork in a new residential tract just west of town.

Newark has shown substantial growth in the past five years and its future looks bright. Two of the largest salt refineries in the state are in constant operation there, the largest stove factory in the west maintains a heavy payroll, and a number of chemical plants add their share to the general prosperity of the town.

"There is every reason to believe Newark is a big city in the making," Mrs. Hudson states. "With unlimited area to be developed and every natural advantage linked with man-made improvements there is no doubt in my mind but that Newark will soon be the metropolis of southern Alameda county."

TOWNSHIP FARMER ALWAYS IN FEAR OF BURIAL ALIVE

All his life Oliver C. Benbow, deceased Irvington farmer, had a fear that he might be buried alive.

This complex was disclosed in the opening paragraph of his will, which read: "See that my body be kept sufficiently long to be absolutely certain that death has intervened."

Benbow died recently at the age of 72. He was a pioneer of the Irvington district and left a wide circle of friends. His will was filed for probate with County Clerk George E. Gross in Oakland last Saturday.

NO GAS MIXTURE IN NILES AREA IT'S REAL THING

Pure, natural gas, direct from the wells at Kettleman, and not a "reconstructed" mixture, is now being served consumers in Washington township.

The report that a man-made mixture of high heat value was being served this district is not true, according to the Pacific Gas and Electric company. The "reconstructed" gas is being supplied by the wells at Kettleman, and the real natural gas is flowing merrily through the mains in the Niles district.

SCOUT CLUBHOUSE PUT IN ORDER BY PROUD YOUNGSTERS

Public Can Show Interest
By Donating Toward Furnishings

As spick and span as a dozen or more hardworking boys can make it, the new clubhouse purchased last week by Niles troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, is ready for furnishings.

In an extremely run-down condition, the old building presented a problem to the enthusiastic youngsters who volunteered to clean it up. A full day of sweeping and scrubbing was required to make the interior habitable.

Much work, of course, remains before the Scouts can invite "Company" and feel proud of their building. This work consists mainly of making a few repairs to the floor, painting or oiling the floor and decorating and furnishing the three rooms.

The public can show its loyalty to the Scouts by donating "this and that" toward the fitting up of the clubhouse. Kitchen utensils and dishes, chairs and tables, rugs and curtains—these are the things the Scouts need. A telephone to any member of the scout committee of the Niles chamber of commerce, or to the Schuckl cannery, will bring information as to just what the Scouts need right now.

LOCAL WATER CO. NOT AFFECTED BY FOSHAY COLLAPSE

The W. B. Foshey company, a $10,000,000 banking, public utilities and real estate firm with headquarters in Minneapolis, and which controls the Public Utilities California corporation of Niles, has gone into the hands of a receiver, according to reports emanating from the east.

The report states the past six months have seen the company in great expansion, during which it bought three banks and several newspapers and completed a 30-story building.

According to the management of the Public Utilities California corporation, which operates the local water system, the alleged collapse of the Foshey company will in no way hinder the operation of the Niles concern.

STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION AIDS WESTERN PACIFIC

The sun shines brighter this week for the Western Pacific company.

The California state railroad commission is to support the railroad company in its fight to extend its lines from Niles to San Francisco. This support is considered the most important assistance given the Western Pacific company in its case before the Interstate Commerce commission.

The Great Northern railway also will benefit from the state commission's aid, as it seeks to enter San Francisco over the Western Pacific lines.

The railroad commission instructed its attorneys to intervene in favor of the proposed extension, which, if successful may mean that the town of Niles will become one of the leading railroad centers in the west.

PERSONAL NEWS

L. M. Stinchfield, of the Ideal Roof company, Oakland, was a business visitor in this district last Tuesday. Stinchfield contracted for regular advertising space in the Register while in Niles.

Marino Iacopi, Niles radio dealer, is the proud possessor of a new Ford sport-model roadster.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

BROUGHT TO BAY!

IT HAS BEEN a bad week for the criminal wealthy. It almost rekindles the vanishing faith of a nation in its jury system and in the honesty of the courts and prosecuting attorneys of the people.

After almost eight years of by-play by the Coolidge administration in handling the Fall bribery case, the Quaker, Hoover, through his attorney general, scores a victory and secures the conviction of the ex-secretary of the interior. And it looks like this once powerful man is to suffer something more than mental anguish for betraying his country and committing nothing less than treason. The right of appeal still remains as a possible delay in the proceedings, yet it is possible that if the convicted ex-cabinet officer lives, he will go to prison.

The arch criminal of the affair is Doheney, the oil king. For lust of millions more of money than he could possibly spend or use to good purpose, or pass to heirs other than making them human parasites, he induced his friend, for a consideration, to transfer government leases to him, out of which, had no restraining hand been raised, he would have filched the people of ten of millions of dollars. Now his friend is disgraced, and over him is cast the shadow of the federal penitentiary. He is ruined. The ignominy of the whole affair is overwhelming, because once he enjoyed the love and respect of a great nation. He rose high. He came up from obscurity. He won his political spurs by merit. Out of the sage brush and cactus of New Mexico he blazed his way to the national capital.

In an hour of financial reverse, the tempter, Doheney, a reputed friend, pointed the way of rehabilitation—at the price of honor—at the expense of his government—and the crime was treason!

Doheney's turn is next. And Hoover, an honest man, is in the White House. His subordinates interpret the chief's principles of integrity; and at vice and crime no department shall wink, no exceptions be made because the criminal be rich and have powerful connections. So Doheney must stand trial, and if guilty—and the Fall conviction proves that he is—he, too, will taste the bitterness of punishment, and possibly live to be restrained within the drear walls at Atlanta.

So two old men, ready to meet their maker, reach the brink of the grave in disgrace—the price of lust for money—and into the other world none can be taken with them.

What a pity!

And here comes another man with drooping head. He had sinned against a young and helpless girl. A rich, and once powerful man, he is reviled all over the world. Reviled everywhere, because known everywhere. Known everywhere because he made an outstanding success in the theatrical world, and theatricals are a vitally interesting amusement for all peoples.

The name of Pantages was a familiar name in the United States, and pretty well known everywhere else. The man who carried that name had amassed one of the big fortunes of America by his keen judgement of stage ability, and extraordinary power of anticipating a fickle public's theatrical taste. He was a Greek, but few people knew his origin until his conviction of the charge of rape upon the person of Eunice Pringle, last week.

Too much money in the end has brought him misery. A man of unsavory reputation for many years, he has used his great position and unlimited resources to gratify the baser passions of man.

Not content to purchase outright women who were only too glad to sell themselves for luxury and ease, he stooped so low as to make the price of employment the surrender of chastity. Nothing can be conceived more despicable. An unsophisticated girl discouraged in her quest for a position at last finds a place open—but at what a price—the price of submitting to unsought embraces of a Greek, who holds the power to give her stage aspirations a chance at public favor or close the door of opportunity to her budding talents. A temptation! One must get along, must succeed.

SUNOL MERCHANTS TO FIGHT FOR OPENING OF CANYON ROAD

WITH THE merchants of Sunol incensed over an announcement that the Niles-Pleasanton highway through Niles canyon will not be reopened to the public until next spring the chamber of commerce of that town Tuesday night voted to take the matter up with the county engineer, and, in the event of failure to get relief there, to carry the fight to open the road to the state highway commission.

With the important artery from the San Francisco peninsula and Oakland districts blocked since September 26, when fire sweeping through the Western Pacific railroad company's tunnel caused the highway to collapse, the Sunol merchants state they have been hard hit through loss of business.

Expecting action would either be taken immediately to either repair the highway or build a detour, the suffering merchants have stood their losses patiently, they state, as long as they can. When a committee from the chamber of commerce, appointed to investigate the delay in opening the road, reported on Tuesday night that traffic would not be resumed until next spring, fire blazed in the eyes of the storekeepers and the chamber was appealed to for aid in getting the road opened.

Additional aid in getting the important artery open to traffic is to be asked of the Niles, Pleasanton and Livermore chambers of Commerce. The Sunol chamber and the merchants there believe these three towns are also suffering from loss of trade on account of the blockade.

Supervisor R. V. Richmond, before leaving for the east recently, stated repair of the road would be held off until the Western Pacific company had put its tunnel in shape. The delay, Richmond stated, was for the reason that the railroad company would pay a major share of the repair work cost.

The Sunol merchants apparently are not in favor of such a program. At least they will demand a passable detour temporarily, using the argument that they may have to go out of business unless the canyon route is re-opened soon to the motoring public.

Glasses Are Important

DO YOU remember Theodore Roosevelt's story of how he discovered when he was thirteen years old that he could not see well?

He complained to his father, who provided glasses.

In his "Autobiography," published by Macmillan, he wrote:

"I had no idea how beautiful the world was until I got those spectacles.

"I had been a clumsy and awkward little boy, and while much of my clumsiness and awkwardness was doubtless due to general characteristics, a good deal of it was due to the fact that I could not see and yet was wholly ignorant that I was not seeing.

"The recollection of this experience gives me a keen sympathy with those who are trying in our public schools and elsewhere to remove the physical causes of deficiency in children, who are often unjustly blamed for being obstinate or unambitious, or mentally stupid."

T. R. was not unique in his defects. Examinations by the American Red Cross nurses in Pennsylvania schools showed that one child in every six or seven was suffering from a physical defect serious enough to retard normal growth and development.

"GETTING ready for Santy!"

That's the slogan of members of the Southern Alameda County Welfare Board who directs the destinies of the children's home at Niles.

That it is going to be a cheerful Christmas for the little tots at the local home is seen in preliminary plans already under way by the board members and by civic and service organizations of this area.

In addition to the children at the Niles home, scores of other unfortunate youngsters in southern Alameda county, whose Christmas otherwise would not be a particularly happy one, can count on a happy Yuletide this year, for gifts, sweets and entertainments are to be prepared for them.

Lists of the children deserving of this Christmas charity are being assembled by the clubs through the Welfare board, the Red Cross and the health centers.

STORK IS WINNER OVER DEATH HERE DURING OCTOBER

The stork ran a close race with the grim reaper in this district during the month of October, according to the records of E. B. Macpherson of Niles, registrar for the state bureau of vital statistics.

According to Macpherson, the long-legged bird visited ten homes during the thirty-one day period, while death cast its shadow on eight.

"It is usually a victory for the stork," Macpherson stated, "and of course that's a boost for our healthful climate and ideal home life."

ELLSWORTH BLOCK IS GETTING COAT OF WHITE PAINT

An improvement to Niles business property of major importance got under way this week when painters began brushing a fresh coat of white paint on the two-story Ellsworth building at Main and I streets. The painting job is under the supervision of C. H. Dohring of Oakland.

The Ellsworth building houses the Hadard drygoods store, the office of Ellsworth and Jones, realtors; the Public Utilities company office, and the De Luxe Barber and Beauty shop on the ground floor. Apartments and offices are on the second floor.

Bluebird Club Awards Prizes For Best Costumes at Dances

Echoes of the successful ball given recently by the Bluebird club still resound through town, the list of prize winners being announced this week.

Adjudged one of the most colorful and original masquerade balls ever held in this section, the big social event will long remain in the memories of all who attended. After the final check, it has been found that the following dancers captured prizes:

Phillip H. Hernandez and Berley Estevan for best sustained characters. They posed as cannibals. Miss Mamie Caldeira, a hulu girl.

Anna Silveira and Viola Souza for most original characters. These two young ladies dressed as "safety first girls."

Billie Yockey and Betty Jane Steinhoff won prizes for their splendid characterizations of little Tom Thumb and his bride.

Irma Clark and Bernice Martin for best fancy costumes. They were ballet girls. Eleanor Bernardo and Agnes Oliveira, pink ladies.

Mrs. Ruth Keough and Mrs. J. L. Dias for best advertising costumes. They represented the Morton Salt company.

Judith Gronley, Aileen Steinhoff, Elizabeth Laudenschlager, Irene Cieslack and June Witherly for best group. They posed as pirates. Artie Nunes, Bert Martin, Joe Valles, Bill Lazzorini, Al Nevis, Clarence Soito, Harold Dondero and Manuel Caeton for best group, posing as the Newark amateur brass band.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gyax won a prize for the best Indian costumes.

Miss Teresa Lennon was a visitor in San Francisco on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pope and daughter Viola of San Francisco spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Pope.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Santos of San Francisco spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Santos.

SOCIAL PROBLEM IN NEW FEATURE AT FOX THEATER

Something about love, which usually is whispered, is laid bare in "The Lady Lies," the all-talking Paramount picture which starts tomorrow at the Fox-Oakland theater.

Unusual in plot conception, "The Lady Lies" tells of a woman who loved fearlessly, blindly, with no thought of the future, and of a man who sought love outside the borders of convention. For two years they knew complete happiness. Then his children learned of their affair. The boy and girl decided it could not go on. Their modern solution of the problem affords drama, brilliant and witty situations.

Walter Huston, the city editor in "Gentlemen of the Press," and Charles Ruggles, the inebriated reporter in the picture, are prominently cast in "The Lady Lies." The feminine lead is handled by Claudette Colbert and the children are played by Tom Brown and Virginia Deering.

On the stage Fanchon and Marco will present their twinkling music box unique, "Accordion Idea," with thirty Music Box Girls, ten Accordion Beauties. But and Lehmann, singing comedians, and Hermie King and his band featured.

Attempt to Board Train Results in Slashed Leg

When his roll of blankets became entangled in the running gear of a freight car, Robert Meehan, itinerant, suffered a badly lacerated leg in the Niles yards of the Southern Pacific company last Thursday night. The injured man was taken to the county hospital.

The accident is said to have occurred when Meehan attempted to board a moving train in the local yard. He was dragged for several yards, rescuers state.

Niles Takes Up Barnyard Golf As Brace Against Cold Winter

"Tsk! Tsk! Would you believe it, Mrs. Roebuck, but they're playing that silly horse-shoe game right on the main street of Niles."

And it's the truth. Barnyard golf has been revived in this fair town and it won't be long before the clink of the shoes against stakes will be heard all over the village.

Credit for bringing the sport to main street goes to D. M. Carvo, genial proprietor of the Fernbrook confectionary store. Carvo has established his court directly opposite his store and in front of the stage company's benches. He expects to develop some chamionship players before the winter is over, and in the spring he'll conduct tournaments with the flingers from Centerville, Warren Springs, Decoto and other near-by towns.

Not to be behind the times, the Register staff has put in a court to the right of the office and practice golf under way this week. With such nimble flingers as "Ringer" McMahan, "Dead Shot" Jerry and "Leaner" Jim, the Register expects to give the Carvo crowd a merry time when they meet up in a month or two for the town championship.

County road equipment jogged up and down I street for an hour or two Monday smoothing out the bumps and holes. As a result rain water will roll off a bit quicker this winter.

Miss Laura Dutra, employed in the Niles office of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, is finding it difficult to shake off a cold which she contracted several weeks ago.

Mrs. Dan Marble motored to Fort Bragg last week-end and visited with relatives and friends there. She reports a delightful trip with the exception that the ocean fogs felt a bit uncomfortable after having basked so long in the warm sunshine of Niles.

Miss Katherine Sullivan and mother were visitors in Oakland on Tuesday afternoon.

Niles lodge of Rebeccas held a busy session last Friday night in Odd Fellows hall.

Mrs. Willard Lord of Stockton was a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Richards last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Rose Regalia Attempts Suicide

Mrs. Rose Regalia has been confined to Highland hospital for observation on an insanity charge preferred by her husband, Angelo Regalia. Mrs. Regalia is said to have attempted to commit suicide by puncturing her stomach with a pair of scissors.

She was treated at her home near Pleasanton by Dr. J. Hal Cox. She was taken to the Oakland hospital for medical attention and later the insanity warrant was sworn. Mrs. Regalia is said to have been suffering with mental affliction for several years.

Lookin' Around

BY THE CURIOUS PASTOR

It certainly is a pleasure to be remembered by old friends. This week the Pastor has the honor of printing contributions from two San Mateo Sunshiners, two charter members of the original Sunshine Club in that fair city across the bay.

The two good friends who have bridged the bay with their cheery greetings and landed square in the Colyum are Mrs. William J. Mulcahy and B. F. Hall. Mrs. Mulcahy signs "Betty Brite" to her Colyum contributions, and Hall is known throughout the land as "Fallacious Fritz."

Here is what "Betty Brite" sends us:—Dear Pastor—Delighted to see your cheery Colyum in print again. Here is a "slangy sunbeam" you may pass on if you like—

If life lets fall some rain on you, And makes you feel "all wet" Don't waste the precious time that's left

In anger, moan or fret. Let work be your umbrella

'Twill make you nice and dry, And if you keep on plugging

You'll need a sunshade bye and bye.

—BETTY BRITE, San Mateo.

And good old Fallacious Fritz writes:—Dear Pastor—Mary Leith and I had a jubilation meeting this morning when we again saw your smiling face looking around the corner. Long may your pen wave in non-excelled Niles. I doubt not that all the other Sunshiners in this neck of the woods feel likewise, and I feel sure you will gather a goodly following for the sunshine cult in the region "cross the bay."

It wouldn't be Fritz to pass up the opportunity to break into rhyme, so, before he sealed his letter he wrote the following: The sun shines bright in Blingum, It's fair in San Matay— Our long lost Pastor's near at last, For he has bridged the bay.

Washington Township Sunshiners will pardon this "San Mateo county" edition of the Colyum. We are so happy over having formed contact again with some of our old contributors that we simply have to blow off about it. It might be timely to say that the Pastor had as many as thirty-eight regular contributors to the Colyum at one time in San Mateo. It is his hope he can double that number here in Niles.

Mary Leith, mentioned by Fallacious Fritz, is another charter member of the Sunshine Club. To the Pastor she is "beloved Mary." Her friends are legion and her heart is of pure gold. We owe much to Mary for her splendid cooperation in the past, and many a "blue" day has been turned into a happy one for the Pastor through the receipt of one of her "sunshine" poems. It is our wish that Mary return to the Colyum, even though her verse must fly across the bay.

While chatting with and about old friends, the Pastor sends a warm handshake to C. W. Fessler (G. Washington Swakka) who is now snugly encased in the mountains near Jamestown. G. Washington is a Japanese school boy of much smartness who leaves his infinitives where he splits 'em, and who is now topping the list of the country's successful writers of airplane fiction. Skole! Old pal!

Niles Radio Dealers Install Service Room

It must be in the air. More improvements are being made this week in Niles than have been noticed in many a moon.

Blacow and Sullivan, Majestic dealers, are building an up-to-date repair and service room in the rear of their attractive store on Main street. When completed, this will be one of the largest and best equipped radio service rooms in the township.

PHILCO RADIOS ARE PROTECTED FROM DAMPNES

Danger to radio sets, placed in a moist climate, need no longer be feared, if buyers profit by the findings of Philco engineers, says Vieux Bros., representatives at Niles of the Philco Balanced-Unit radio sets.

"For years dampness and moisture have been recognized as two real enemies of radio set service," Jack Vieux states.

"For this reason Philco engineers, anxious to sell sets in seaside localities, in the mountains and in many other sections where moisture was a factor, set about to eliminate this evil. They have succeeded as is proven by the construction of the new Philco Balanced-Unit models, shown in the highboy, the highboy deluxe, the lowboy and the table model sets."

Philco's engineering staff, Vieux pointed out, have solved this problem by the simple expedient of cadmium plating on metal parts which keeps bright and will not corrode. Thus the set is made capable of performing at greater efficiency even though it is used at the mountains or seashore.

Natural Gas
Now Available for Country Homes!

through SHELLANE
the new compressed natural gas for use in specially designed
WEDGEWOOD
Gas Ranges

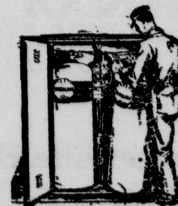

At last! Modern science comes to the aid of the country kitchen... regardless of where it is located. The great Shell Oil Company... with a new, practically perfect gas supply... and the Wedgewood Stove Company... with a new line of ranges designed for Shellane use... combine to transform the country kitchen, so long a sweltering workshop, into a comfortable and convenient place to work, the equal of any of her city sisters.

Convenient, Economical, Safe

This remarkable new invention brings to your home an uninterrupted supply of clean, sootless gas... as economical in cost as city gas... and laboratory perfected to absolute safety.

Come in and let us tell you more about it or write and our representative will call!

Installation and refilling of tanks is done for you by service men. You never need to worry—they come and get the empty tanks and connect a full one whenever it is needed.

A special arrangement brings Shellane and a Wedgewood range to your home at remarkably low cost and liberal terms. Breuner's will accept your old stove as part payment for one of these new Wedgewoods.

W. J. Furtado, retired agriculturist, is building a pretentious home on Main street. The residence will be modern in every respect and will cost approximately $15,000.

M. J. Bernardo, constable, took a day off last Sunday and visited the fishing waters near Pittsburg. He says he caught the limit.

George Robinson, popular garage man, also went fishing last Sunday. He was accompanied by Manuel Santos. Robinson isn't so certain about his catch.

With shipments of tomatoes just double to what they were last year, the H. P. Garin company of Centerville this week sent its last carload of the table delicacy east. A total of fifty-three cars of tomatoes were shipped from the Centerville plant this season.

LOCAL CONSTABLE SENT IN SEARCH OF LONE BANDIT

Constable M. J. Bernardo was aroused from his slumbers and sent into the "jungles" late last Saturday night by a telegram from Sheriff Lyle, of Santa Clara, which stated a gasoline station bandit was headed toward Oakland via the Dumbarton bridge.

Bernardo is said to have made a thorough search of the Centerville-Irvington-Alvarado roads and all likely hiding places, but without success. The wanted man is said to have held up and robbed an employee of a service station in San Jose and then to have struck out in the direction of Oakland.

SCHOOL TEACHERS OF TOWNSHIP HOLD MONTHLY SESSION

County Board of Education Members Attend Big Session

Examinations for requirements in the elementary schools of Southern Alameda county and the programs of study in those schools were the subjects of discussion at the monthly meeting of the Southern Alameda County Principals' association held at the Green Shutter hotel in Hayward last Monday night.

Robert M. Reid, supervising principal of the Hayward elementary schools, presided. Members of the Alameda county board of education were present.

The association was formed several years ago. Joseph Dias of Centerville is president and W. B. Hodges of Centerville is secretary.

Among those attending the meeting Monday night were:

David E. Martin, county superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Martin; P. H. Fischer, Miss Genevieve McKeever, member of the county board; C. L. Breidenbach of Berkeley, president of the board; E. D. Bristow of Niles, Guy Brown of Livermore, George D. Richards and Tom Scales of Irvington, Mrs. Madrugá of Alviso, Ellison Peacock of Decoto, A. B. Morris and F. P. Johnson of Hayward, Mrs. Edna Overacker of Mount Eden, Mrs. Musick of Newark, W. O. Davies of San Leandro, C. E. Lawson of San Lorenzo, Leslie H. Maffia of Warm Springs, V. B. Johnson of Pleasanton and John V. Vasconcellos of Mission San Jose.

ROGERS TEAM TO FEAST ON DUCK DINNER

AND NOW it's "quack, quack" for the Madrugá volley-ball team of the Centerville Athletic club.

The members of that squad, having lost a three-set series with the Rogers team, are destined to pick enough ducks to feed both groups. The last and deciding games of the series were played last Friday night on the clubhouse court before a capacity audience.

The unofficial date for the big duck dinner is November 20. Some of the crack shots in the Rogers team have guaranteed to get the birds.

After losing the first game of the evening, 15 to 11, the Rogers squad went to work and took the next two by scores of 15 to 2 and 15 to 11. So it's all over but the picking. The Madrugá boys to pick the feathers, and the Rogers gang to pick the bones.

St. James Men's Club Sponsors Delightful Turkey Whist Party

It was a great event and everybody had a lot of fun, the men folks furnishing a major part of it.

That's an account of the St. James Men's Guild turkey whist party in brief.

With their funny bones protruding through their coat sleeves, the men played such pranks as changing the trump each time. When twenty hands were played, the folks repaired to the banquet hall where a bountiful supply of good food was served. Counting of the scores followed.

S. F. Rutter of Irvington won a turkey. A fat duck went to A. H. Davis of Oakland. Mrs. W. Rogers of Newark won a brace of chickens, F. Muller took home a box of potatoes, and a box of apples and tomatoes went to

CHARITY WHIST PARTY TO DRAW CAPACITY CROWD

One of the largest crowds ever in attendance at a prize whist is expected tomorrow night at Parish hall when the Native Sons and Native Daughters hold their annual party for the benefit of the state homeless children's fund.

Committees in charge of arrangements state that nothing has been left undone that might add to the pleasure of the guests. There will be tables for everyone, no matter how large the crowd, they state, and all winners will be rewarded handsomely. Eight fine turkeys and many other prizes have been hung up, it is stated.

The annual whist party given in Centerville by the Native Sons and Daughters always attracts a large crowd. The money taken in goes into a fund which provides homes for orphans throughout the state. More than one hundred youngsters have been placed in good homes since April 1, this year, Judge Allen Norris, head of the Native Sons' committee, said yesterday.

This work on the part of the orders is indeed to be commended, leading citizens state. No child is considered unless it is of legitimate and healthful birth and no homes are allowed to take a child unless the investigating committee has found the adoptors worthy and responsible.

OFFICERS WARN BOYS TO RETURN REMOVED GATES

Boys will be boys, but constables will be constables, too, and so youngsters in Centerville who went the limit on Halloween are apt to pay for their pranks unless they repair some of the damage they did on that night of witches and hobgoblins.

According to Constable M. J. Bernardo, some really malicious mischief was done on the part of older boys the night of October 31 in and around the Centerville business section. Most of the pranksters are known, Bernardo states, and it will behoove them to replace a few gates and other pieces of property immediately.

Hallowe'en Pranksters Tie Up Jewelry Trade

Judging from the sidewalk display in front of the C. E. Anderson jewelry store last Friday morning, friends of the well-known business man thought he had gone into the second-hand automobile game.

Hallowe'en pranksters placed an old machine bottom side up directly in front of Anderson's door. Then they piled a stack of empty packing boxes on top until they reached the roof.

The jeweler was more than an hour clearing a path into his place of business.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CHAIRMAN NAMED BY ASSOCIATION

Money Raised Aids Battle
Against Dreaded
White Plague

Mrs. J. E. Thane has been named Washington township chairman for the 1929 Christmas seal sale. Her assistants will be Mrs. J. R. Whipple and James L. Bunker.

Robert A. Leet is county chairman, and those named to take charge of the seal sales in the respective Washington township towns are:

Mrs. A. A. Hatch, Mrs. J. E. Townsend and A. A. Hatch, Niles; Mrs. Howard Chadbourne, Mrs. Freda Bunting and Mrs. George Coit, Centerville; Mrs. August May, Mildred Nauert and Mrs. W. S. Robie, Alvarado; Mrs. A. A. Amaral and Mrs. Hortense Silva, Decoto; Miss Sophie Gallegos and Miss Anita Gallegos, Mission San Jose.

In announcing his acceptance of the county chairmanship, Leet said:

"A successful seal sale is not an end in itself; it is the community's method of purchasing additional health protection and providing leadership for the further prevention of tuberculosis and the reduction of the death rate.

"It has been found that tuberculosis is both preventable and curable and deaths from preventable and curable disease are a reflection upon the community in which they occur.

"Every loss from tuberculosis is a tremendous economic loss to both the family in which the individual lived and to the community which has educated and sheltered him.

"Large sums have to be spent annually trying to cure tuberculosis but too often these efforts fail because the diagnosis of the case was not made soon enough.

"The health agencies of our county and the Tuberculosis Association have done excellent work in the past in the year round campaign to prevent tuberculosis.

"Christmas seals sold this year will help carry further this program of prevention in our county during the ensuing year by continuing the health building activities at Del Valle Farm. They will emphasize the importance of work with the children in our schools whose health needs special care which Christmas seals help give through our sunshine and nutrition classes; they will aid our clinics and medical agencies in the year around struggle with the great white plague.

NEW PHONE BOOKS BEING DELIVERED IN THIS SECTION

The first issue of the new Alameda County telephone directory is now being delivered, according to John Robinson, manager for the telephone company. Approximately 4,000 books will be delivered, and Robinson request that anyone not receiving a copy should communicate with the business office by telephone.

"We are sure that residents of Alameda County will find the new directory a real convenience," Robinson stated. "It contains lists of subscribers, alphabetically arranged, for each exchange in Alameda County, excepting Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland and San Leandro. The new book, being much lighter in weight than the old, will be much easier to handle.

"The 'Buyer's Guide' section, we believe, will also be welcomed by local residents. This section is all that its title implies, for therein the listings and advertisements of local merchants can be easily found under the proper classification of their business."

Washington Union High School Scores First Point of Season

By Charles R. Courter

Of course we wouldn't think of taking any credit for Washington Union high school's victory over Emeryville last Friday afternoon, but the fact remains that Washington won, 20 to 0, by remedying the very faults we were brazen enough to point out to her in our article last week.

By giving the ball carrier at least a two-man interference, by clipping opposing players at every opportunity, and by speeding up her backfield, Washington fairly swept Emeryville off her feet and the first touchdown of the season was hung up on the score board before the visitors had a chance to figure things out.

Thrilled and encouraged by the fact she had at last crossed an enemy's goal line, Washington soared to great heights and made a good job of it by driving across two more touchdowns. The tackling last Friday was of a superior brand to what it has been, and the whole scheme of play seemed to be inspired and re-vamped. We wish to congratulate Coach Regan on the marked improvement of his team.

As every newspaper man knows, it is impossible to write a critical yarn without being misunderstood. Our story last week in which we pointed out a few of the outstanding faults of the Washington high school squad brought down some sharp cracks from a few of the players. If the young men who took exception to our remarks had but paused to analyze the story they would have seen that our criticism was not against them, but rather against their coach, who, we believe saw it in the constructive light in which we intended it.

The best any critic can expect is abuse, but it shouldn't come from those who are not the object of the criticism. We are too long in the sport writing game to point our articles at the players on a football team, especially a high school team. We played on one for two years and we know we had all we could do to understand what the coach was telling us, let alone try to figure out the sportswriters' chatter. Therefore we don't waste words on the youngsters now that we have got on the other side of the fence.

Founding Of Junior College Follows Forming Of District

(Editor's Note:—This is the third of a series of articles on Junior Colleges which has been prepared under the supervision of a committee whose chairman is E. W. Burr. Questions are invited and will be answered if addressed to "Junior College," care of this paper.)

The first step in the founding of a junior college is the formation of a junior college district because no junior college can legally exist or be supported unless such a district has been formed according to due process of law. Consequently all statements in this article having to do with law have been taken from the latest revision of the State School Code. Since the junior colleges is the most recent addition to the educational system, it has been possible to provide for it a legal background which is devoid of encumbering tradition and which fully protects the taxpayer.

Of the several types of junior college districts there are but two which are possible in Southern Alameda County. These are the union junior college districts. If the Hayward and Washington union high school districts should together form a junior college district, it would be called a union junior college district. This name would remain the same if the Amador Valley district were included. But if the Livermore district were to join in the movement, the resulting district would be termed a joint union junior college district because one elementary district in the Livermore union high school district lies in Contra Costa County. The distinction is more than a name since there are some differences in the manner of government of the two types of district.

In the formation of a union junior college district there are two preliminary steps which may be carried on at the same time. Two petitions addressed to the county superintendent of schools must be signed. Of these petitions, one must be signed by 500 qualified voters residing in the high school districts concerned, and the other must be signed by a majority of each high school board of trustees in the same districts. The signing of these petitions by the voters and trustees merely indicates that they are willing that the proposition should come before the people for a vote and in no way obligates anyone.

The signed petitions are then sent to the county superintendent of schools who must verify the signatures and satisfy himself that they are sufficient. He then transmits the petitions to the state board of education for approval. Their approval is usually contingent upon their being shown that the proposed junior college is necessary and that the assessed valuation of the proposed district is sufficient to insure a successful institution. If they approve, the county superintendent then submits the question for determination at an election.

In a union junior college district the election which finally decides whether or not the district shall be formed can be held only on the last Friday in March and at the same time that election for school trustees is held. This provision obviates the expense of a special election. The election is held at each public elementary schoolhouse in the proposed district. In this way the fullest possible opportunity is given to everyone to record his wish and no one can claim that the proposition was "railroaded" or "slipped over."

Probably the most important question among the preliminaries is the one regarding the likelihood of adequate support for the junior college. The committee has written numerous letters to successful junior college executives and the consensus of their opinions is that the assessed valuation of the junior college district should be not less than thirty million dollars. A taxable valuation of this size will assure adequate support without the levying of a tax which will burden anyone. It is true that there are several highly successful junior colleges in California which do not enjoy the backing of such a valuation. These colleges continue to exist because the taxpayers value the service received too highly to lose it.

The four townships of Southern Alameda County have an assessed valuation of approximately forty million dollars and the valuation of the combined Hayward and Washington union high school districts is in excess of thirty million dollars. It is therefore obvious to all that a junior college situated in this end of the county not only could never fail for lack of financial support but also would not require a tax burden on anyone.

Eloping Couple Send Wedding News by Wire

Completely surprising their many friends, Miss Dortha Willis and Frank Azevedo eloped to Reno last Wednesday, and, after the nuptial knot was tied, telegraphed the news to relatives here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Willis, who recently moved to Niles. She is a graduate of Washington Union high school class of '29. While at school she was a leader in athletics and dramatics.

Azevedo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Azevedo of this town.

Dinner Party in Honor of Wedding Anniversary

A jolly dinner party was held recently at the Florence restaurant, Niles, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Whitefield's seventeenth wedding anniversary. Dancing and games made the hours roll by swiftly.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Solon, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Boggin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Naber, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steinmetz, Mr. and Mrs. George Darrow, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boggin, Cyrus Solon, Jr., Matt Whitefield, Jr., and Miss Peggy Whitefield.

Worker Injures Back In Fall From Water Tower

Manuel Silva of this town is convalescing this week from severe injuries to his back suffered recently when he fell from a water tank stand.

Silva is said to have neglected his injuries at the time and did not seek medical attention for several days after the accident. The pain became so intense, however, he was forced to seek relief and had Dr. E. C. Grau of Niles examine his hurts. Dr. Grau feared at first Silva had fractured a rib or two. This was not the case, however, the injuries proving severe bruises.

The Misses Edith and Eva Rogers were guests at a jolly Hallowe'en party held in Decoto.

A party was held last Sunday afternoon in honor of Muriel Fagundis, it being his eighth birthday. The group of guests enjoyed themselves playing games, after which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Gould, formerly of Centerville, have moved to Mission where they will make their permanent home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dutra and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meyers, visited with the former's daughter, Mrs. Frank Alexander, at Mountain View, recently.

Miss Agnes Rogers spent last week with friends in Manteca.

A birthday party was held in honor of the Misses Bernice and Lucile Sippi one day last week.

Miss Lucile Sippi has accepted a position with the Mutual Store at Niles.

Aston Fagundis has purchased a new electric radio.

SLIDES HINDER WORK IN NILES CANYON TUNNEL

Cave-ins, the bugbear of miners, are said to be hindering the repair work at the Western Pacific company's tunnel in Niles canyon.

Masses of loose earth and rock which sink into the bore as fast as debris can be removed are proving a serious handicap.

According to foremen on the job, the workmen have been able to clear but 100 feet of the tunnel and it is feared that travel through the bore cannot be resumed for thirty days.

The county is delaying repair of the highway bridge destroyed at the head of the tunnel by the fire in order to avoid further delay in repair of the tunnel by further slides.

HERE'S A YARN FOR MR. RIPLEY TO THINK OVER

Why carry a gun when out on the duck marshes? That's a question George Donovan, manager of the Niles office of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, can ask and mean it, for Donovan had duck dinner last night and he didn't get it with a gun either.

While driving his roadster near a duck pond west of Warm Springs, Donovan was startled by a whirl of wings, a squawk and then a thud. Feeling a weight on his shoulders, he stopped and discovered a big sprig had flown into his car and broken its neck against a brace.

"And you can believe it or not," Donovan said, smiling from ear to ear.

STORE HAY DRY TO AVOID FIRE IN THE STACKS

Hay properly cured, stored in a dry place and well ventilated, will not heat sufficiently to cause damage, says J. P. Fairbank, extension specialist in Agricultural Engineering for the University of California.

Fire Prevention Week begins next Sunday, and in this connection Fairbanks points out that heavy losses of feed and buildings have been suffered by many farmers through spontaneous combustion of hay in storage.

"We can say this much," says Fairbanks, "that if cured well, given proper ventilation, kept dry and stored with 10 pounds of salt to the ton, is not apt to heat enough to cause trouble. Moisture, whether in the hay at the time of storage or which gets in later, is likely to cause combustion. It may be that fox-tail in the hay has not dried when the hay is stored, it may be a leaky roof, but moisture, whatever the source and if in sufficient quantity, will cause high temperatures within the stack."

Chopped hay, Fairbanks points out, presents a greater problem than hay taken direct from the field, in that there is less chance of ventilation.

DECOTO BOOSTERS WILL AID SCHOOL INSTALL SHOWERS

Southern Pacific Company
To Place Hydrants
On R. R. Ave.

Maintaining its policy to be a leading factor in improving this town, the Decoto chamber of commerce last Tuesday night voted to raise money with which to purchase a number of showers for the grammar school.

An entertainment or dance probably will be held by the commerce chamber as a means of raising the necessary cash. The showers are needed in line with sports of physical culture work at the school, the teachers point out.

Although there is nothing immediately new in the sanitary problem fight, the Decoto boosters are keeping in close touch with developments and anticipate definite action in the near future.

The Southern Pacific company made the members who also belong to the fire department happy by addressing a letter to the chamber stating the company would install four standard-size hydrants along Railroad avenue as an added protection to its warehouses and other property there.

Christian Endeavor Has Jolly Hallowe'en Party

The Christian Endeavor had their annual Hallowe'en party at the Swanson home, last Saturday evening. A number of young people of Decoto and from out of town were invited to this successful social.

Much enjoyment was got out of a contest in which four teams representing Washington Union, Berkeley and Emeryville High schools participated. The latter school won with Centerville right behind her steps.

Following a program of games a Hallowe'en supper was served in the dining room. Over twenty were present. Among the out-of-town guests were the Misses Rogers, and Willis, of Mission San Jose, Miss Eva Swanson, Fritz Swanson, Miss Marie Swanson, tel.

Orville Blose, Art Hanson, and Elmer Hansen of Oakland.

Decoto Man Hurt When Auto Skids, Overturns

Thrown from his automobile when it overturned on the Decoto-Hayward road after striking a stretch of soft earth, William Walker of Decoto is in a Hayward hospital suffering from severe lacerations of the face and painful body bruises.

The accident occurred on Hallowe'en, according to reports, while Walker and two friends were returning to Decoto from a party held in Hayward. Neither of Walker's friends was injured, it is stated.

Accident Interrupts Race With Stork

IT APPEARED for a time one day recently that fate was working against an expectant mother and her physician as they were rushed along East 14th street in Oakland in an ambulance enroute to Highland hospital. Fate intervened in the way of an automobile accident, but didn't cause it to be serious enough to keep the race with the stork from being lost.

Mrs. A. Chaez of Pleasanton the expectant mother, and Dr. E. P. Rankin were being rushed to the hospital in an ambulance driven by Fred Clausen. With siren wailing, the ambulance was roaring down East 14th street, and then — crash!

At Fruitvale avenue an automobile, said by police to have been driven by H. M. Harlow of San Leandro, suddenly turned into the main thoroughfare colliding with the ambulance. The ambulance was knocked to the opposite side of the street, but not put out of commission. The Harlow car was turned over and wrecked, its occupants suffered serious injuries.

Mrs. Chaez, Dr. Rankin, Clausen and his ambulance, soon continued their way to the hospital, arriving before the traditional stork put in his appearance. The mother and baby are reported doing nicely.

In the Harlow car were Mrs. Harlow and Mrs. Virginia Graham besides the driver, according to police reports. Both women suffered painful cuts and bruises. Mrs. Graham also is believed to have sustained a fracture of the spine in addition. Mr. Harlow escaped with minor bruises and cuts.

Personal Mention.

Dr. E. C. Grau and other Niles members of Alvarado Aerie, F. O. E., journeyed to that town on Monday night to attend the regular business session. Only routine business was transacted.

Mr. Craig Haskin of San Luis Obispo visited with friends in Niles over the week-end. Haskin is employed at the Motel Inn in the southern city.

Niles Institute, Y. L. L., will revel at an old-time Hallowe'en party tonight at Odd Fellows hall. All the old games and stunts typical of Hallowe'en will keep the party lively until a late hour.

One of the several Hallowe'en parties held in Niles last week was that of Miss Wilda Davis, at which she entertained a number of her classmates in royal style. Games and stunts pertaining to Hallowe'en kept the party lively until a late hour. Among those present were Jack Townsend, Arnold Abrott, Melvin Farmer, Gordon Justice, George Frontz, Vernon Ellsworth, Patty Duffey, Mae Martenstein, Lucille Alves, Leona Solon, Rosemary Clark, and Lilas Davis.

The eighth grade at the Niles Grammar school has started to make clay paper figures for a puppet show to be held in the near future under the direction of Miss Kerns.

PUBLIC IS INVITED

A meeting to which the general public is invited will be held tomorrow night at the Niles public library by the library association. There will be a short program, including a talk by some prominent speaker and possibly a few readings. These meetings, the association states, are held every three months.

IRVINGTON

A pleasant afternoon of bridge took place recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Hirsch. About twenty guests enjoyed the hospitality of the genial hosts, all coming from points as far distant as Richmond and San Francisco. First prize at cards was won by Mrs. C. Allison of Richmond. Mrs. McMenamin also of Richmond took the consolation award. The game was followed by the dinner.

Armistice Day services will be held next Sunday at the Community church at 11 o'clock. Reverend Moore will deliver an address on "What Can Be Done to End War." The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Ed Weston, former resident of this town who now resides in Palo Alto, is reported to be seriously ill with pneumonia.

In desperation, if she falls, who will cast the first stone at her?

But Pantages was convicted, not of this, but plain rape. Physical force! Where money failed, other means were invoked. For years his wealth saved him but at last he has been brought face to face with a striped suit, iron bars, beans and sour dough.

Again, a lust—a desire for unlawful things; an unhealthy appetite; a craving for women. Such was Pantages, the theatrical colossus. Fall wanted money he did not honestly earn. Doheney wanted more power, the power that would come from another hundred millions. Their desires were against the code of honor, at variance with the teachings of the scriptures. They rose high, through sheer force and ability, but their works were not good and could not endure, for 'tis true that—

"He whose bosom buds in guilt

Shall to the ground be cast,

And like the rootless stubble tossed

Before the sweeping blast!

"But God who doth the good adore

Hath give to them peace and rest,

But hath ordained that wicked men

Shall ne'er be truly blessed."

Ocean's Biggest Electric Refrigerator

S. S. PENNSYLVANIA AT HER BUILDERS' YARD
Nearing completion for the California trade, this new electric liner has great capacity for perishable cargo.

CALIFORNIANS—both those who travel, and those who stay on the ranch and raise crops for distant markets—have a personal interest in the largest commercial vessel ever built under the American flag, the electric liner Pennsylvania, now nearing completion at Newport News, Va.

The new ship is virtually a huge electric refrigerator, the largest ever built, and she was specially designed to carry California products. She is also a palatial passenger carrier.

Without the present prosperity of California, with its annual production of crops worth $500,000,000, the Pennsylvania would never have taken shape. Like her sister ships, the electric liners California and Virginia, she was designed and constructed with particular regard to meeting the evident needs of California shippers for rapid transit to Eastern markets via the Panama Canal, as well as for the convenience of thousands of seagoing tourists who seek annually the golden shores of the Pacific Coast.

The Coast to Coast route of the Panama Pacific Line, on which these great new vessels operate, was not opened until after the completion of the Canal. Its growth has been gradual, keeping pace with California's industrial and agricultural development. The line's present building program, culminating in the Pennsylvania, has called for the expenditure of $21,000,000 for three ships, and a recent announcement of their own was to the effect that three more similar ships would be built in the near future if business continues good.

The Pennsylvania is the world's largest electrically driven liner, and she is electrically equipped throughout, from her refrigeration plant to the kitchens, ventilating and heating systems, elevators, deck machinery and even navigating appliances, including a "metal mike," or steering wheel that will guide the ship without a human hand touching it.

The big liner has 17,000 horsepower in her two great driving motors, and can make the 5,500-mile voyage from coast to coast in thirteen days, allowing a day for a stop at Havana and another at the Canal. She is 613 feet long, 82 feet wide and 100 feet deep from bridge deck to keel. She has capacity for 10,000 tons of freight, and 800 passengers. Her rooms for refrigerated cargo and cool air space for fruits, vegetables, canned goods, eggs and other California products, have 100,000 cubic feet capacity.

The Pennsylvania will be ready for her builder's trials the last of September. She will leave New York for her maiden voyage on October 19. On her first voyage eastward, the Pennsylvania will sail from San Francisco November 9 and Los Angeles November 11, with a full cargo of California products.

FLAMES DESTROY RESIDENCE, SHED ON MISSION ROAD

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the home of S. Ferrari on the Niles-Mission road last Thursday.

Starting in a shed, the flames spread quickly to the home and before the Niles department reached the distant scene the two buildings were burned to the ground.

Beside all his personal belongings, Ferrari lost an automobile, several barrels of grape juice, 150 sacks of seed potatoes, nearly 200 bushels of seed corn and a fruit press.

The house belonged to Mrs. Ameline Pine of Mission San Jose and was not insured. A barn was saved from the flames by the Niles fireman.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CHANGES OPENING HOUR ON MONDAYS

Starting next Monday the public library at Niles will not be open to the general public on Monday afternoons until 3 o'clock.

This change of thirty minutes in the opening hour has been brought about through the popularity of the "Children's Hour" held every Monday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Roland Bendel. Last Monday there were more than seventy kiddies in attendance when Mrs. Bendel called the group to order.

OAKLAND T & D WILL HOLD OVER "THE VIRGINIAN"

"The Virginian" Paramount's all talking, all outdoor romance, which broke all records at the Fox T & D last week, will be held over for a second and final week starting tomorrow.

"The Virginian" is an adoption of Owen Wisters famous novel of the same name which was played on the stage with tremendous success some twenty years ago. Paramount recently made the story into a talkie, filming it almost entirely out of doors and making it the first audible picture of this type to reach the screen since "In Old Arizona."

Gary Cooper, popular young Paramount star plays the role of the young Virginian and makes it the finest characterization of his career. His voice registers especially well. Playing opposite him is Mary Brian and she gives a sympathetic understanding to the role of the young school mistress from Vermont. The part of the likeable but unfortunate "Steve" is well handled by Richard Arlen and Walter Huston, former Broadway Star, makes "Trampas" a real villain.

During its first week at the Fox T & D "The Virginian" surpassed the attendance records set by "Wings," "In Old Arizona" and "The Broadway Melody."

A strong supporting program includes a Charley Chase talking comedy, a Fox talking news reel and a movietone act.

Buellton-La Vega Park and Cafe, located two miles south of here, opened doors to public.

Fundamentals of basketball were given this week at Amador Union High school in Pleasanton by Coach George Patterson. These fundamentals include footwork, passing and shooting.

Later offensive play and team work will be given.

It is planned to form a town team from among those who take up the training. All men of the community have been invited by Coach Patterson to avail themselves of this gym work.

The Y. M. I. plans to form a basketball team. Coach Patterson has been informed, and it is expected that the team formed at the night class will furnish the practice games for the Y. M. I. squad.

TAX COLLECTIONS TOP $40,000 IN THIS TOWNSHIP

It seems to be one of the little ironies of life that tax collection time should come just when folks are beginning to think about Christmas holidays. More than $40,000 was collected last week in Centerville from Washington township property owners, and nearly $600,000 in tax money has been received to date by collectors throughout the county.

Exactly $40,235.42 passed over the counter at the Bank of Italy, Centerville, last Tuesday. Collections that day were also made at Pleasanton, Hayward and Livermore.

DARLING DOLORES WILL BE SEEN AS "GLAD RAG DOLL"

Dolores Costello and Rod LaRocque are two of the motion picture luminaries who will be in all-talking pictures this coming week at the Niles theater.

Delightful Dolores, alluring and captivating, will play the lead in "The Glad Rag Doll" on Sunday and Monday, and LaRocque will thrill the Niles theater patrons on Saturday night in "Hold 'Em Yale," a smashing romance that fairly sizzles with the color and glamor of college life.

The feature picture tonight is "The Midnight Taxi," a story of rum-running, passion and unrequited love.

Two of the big all-talking pictures coming to the Niles are "On With the Show" and "The Lion and the Mouse." Picture
